

Careers for Students with a Master of Library and Information Studies

The Master of Library and Information Studies will provide you with a program that allows you to gain experience designing, using, and evaluating information technologies, all while continuing to hold close the long-standing traditions of commitment to public service, ethical use of information, intellectual freedom, and open access.

Web Developers
Information Architect
Archivist Data Curator
Database Administrator
Librarian Intellectual Freedom
Chief Information Officer
Ontologists Social Media Strategist
Open Access Career Museum Curator
Master of Library and Information Studies
Usability Engineer
Data Analyst Public Service
Ethical Use of Information

"I am genuinely grateful for the excellent instruction and personal attention I received during the MLIS program"

-Courtney Selby, 2004

Associate Dean for Information Systems & Library Director at Hofstra Law School Hempstead, NY

Graduates with a Master of Library and Information Studies find careers as:

Librarians | Archivists | Museum Curators |
Information Architects | Data Analysts
| Digitization Specialists |
Emerging Technology Librarians |
Database Administrators | Web Developers

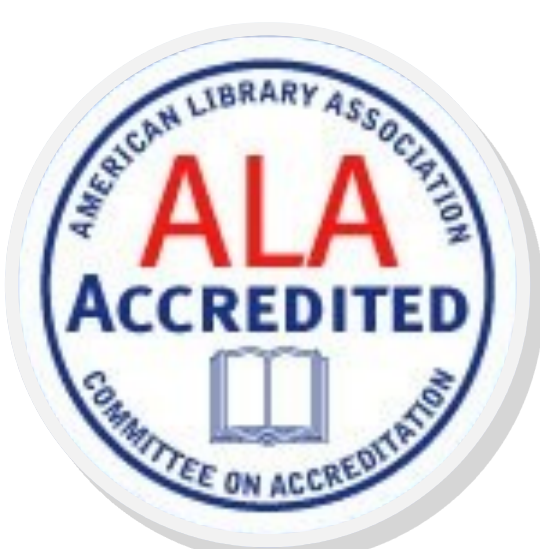

"My favorite thing during my time in the OU SLIS graduate program was the opportunity to build relationships with others who are as passionate about information as I am."

-Tara Malone, 2015

Assistant Professor and Librarian

Robert M. Bird Library

OU Health Sciences Center

OU's School of Library and Information Studies is the only American Library Association accredited Master of Library and Information Studies Program in the state of Oklahoma.

Come Visit Us Today! Bizzell Library Room 120 | 405-325-3921